Forecast For Wales
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Friday 31 Dec 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Variable amounts of cloud, outbreaks of rain, unseasonably mild.

This Evening and Tonight:
Generally cloudy perhaps with outbreaks occasional drizzle quickly pushing eastwards during the evening. The cloud and drizzle clearing eastern areas before midnight with clear spells following. Winds easing through the evening though increasing again later. Staying mild. Minimum temperature 9 deg C (48 deg F).

Saturday:
A new band of cloud and rain will quickly arrive across Wales before pushing eastwards during the morning. Sunny spells following. Rather windy and mild. Maximum temperature 13 deg C (55 deg F).

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:
Some heavy rain and gusty winds sweeping east on Sunday, with showers following for Monday.. A band of rain likely to edge south on Tuesday introducing colder conditions.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.